How easy would it be to change the color scheme for something like this?

Football Ornament

I'm a 3D modeler (never printed), but I assume it would be simple, if you have the original 3d file and texture file.

The colors might be limited by the material, though. From what I understand, multicolor sandstone is the only material that allows for a full range of color.

This is correct Multi-Color Sandstone is the only full color material.
