Procedure to Recover Forgot AOL Mail Password:-

AOL and other websites have stepped away from the recovery of passwords. It provides an alternative to reset passwords as a safer and more secure method. To do this, AOL developed simple procedures. Occasionally, they're modified but generally include similar measures.

Method 1:

- First, go to the AOL Mail Sign-in page
- Now enter your AOL username
- Then select Sign-in and choose I forgot my password
- Enter your username and choose Next
- Enter the Account phone number you entered when you built your account.
- Pick Next and AOL will need to enter verification code to verify your identity. Pick either Yes, write me a verification code or call me with a verification code
- Note the verification code you got in the text message or cell phone
- Enter the verification code and then choose Verify
- Enter your new password
- Choose Save and login to your AOL Mail account using your New Password

Method 2:

- The user will first type <http://www.aol.com> into the web browser.
- Next, click the button to log in/join that will reveal the upper right-hand corner.
- AOL's login page opens.
- In the field enter your email address or username for AOL.
- Now press the "Next" button.
- Type in the password field if you remember the password and press the "Sign in" button.
- Since you've forgotten your AOL mail account password, press the "I forgot my password" option that will appear just after the "sign-in" button.

- As soon as you click on the "I forgot my password" button, the AOL email password recovery page will be redirected.
- You'll be asked "Have you got access to this phone? "Ask and display a digit of your mobile phone number that you entered when you created your AOL mail account and also display a message."We will give you a verification code to verify that you are the owner of this phone.
- If you have a phone number, users must click on the button "yes", write me a verification code.
- On this number, it will give you verification code. Users must enter the code in the checkbox and press the "Verify" button.
- To log in to your AOL, click the "Continue" button and select the "Create a New Password" option.
- As soon as you click on the "Create a new password" button, the page will redirect to reset a new password for AOL mails.
- Twice type in the new password.
