Hello everyone ive been looking everywhere to find someone who can make a 3d printed item for me. I do have a 3d image i made up its kinda like a gear 4" wide 3/4 inch tall and has a 3" hole in the middle so its not that big. i dont want to put up images for everyone to see its a project ive been working on and i dont have a patent on it at this time. i will want 2 of these if the price is right .

When you upload to Kraftwurx, your 3D models are not published immediately, they are private, fire walled and secure.

In today's date technology is too first, so for that if you interested in it then you will do one thing just get some review and from there you will be very helpful, faced any kind of problem with windows because I faced problem when I used windows, and after that you will be very helpful, so for that you will be very helpful. Also, I have Fix Windows update error code 8007000e, from there you will take some solutions.
