

Starting a Business

Posted by dusty.santos.9 - 2013/12/20 10:07

Hello everyone! I'm starting a business, specifically a physical store specializing in selling 3d printers and 3d printed merchandise. A 3d printer will be running to draw attention and to create our merchandise.

Acuity Designs will let me use (and sell if anyone wants it) their Helix 3d printer. The mall representative loves the idea and I even have a wealthy investor calling me, but I still need your help.

I need merchandise, lots of merchandise. I have a couple artist with me but I need much more. I would take your digital files, print and sell them at my cart. Every time it sells I'll pay you. The price is negotiable.

What say all of you?
