

Hello

Posted by jsantos - 2011/11/15 13:10

---

Hello everybody, I'm Jason and I'm a basic 3D modeler working out of Blender. I have been involved with 3D modeling for a couple months now, and I'm fascinated by 3D printing! Hopefully I'll have 1-2 models of my own on the store in the next few weeks.

=====

Re:Hello

Posted by Abby - 2011/12/03 00:59

---

Hi Jason! I'm Abby, and heard about this site from a presentation at the Alamo Drafthouse in Austin. I'm also a 3D animator & modeler ... I love the idea of making stuff for sale, but I'm still trying to figure out what I would make, and what people might want.

=====

Re:Hello

Posted by Marco CM - 2012/01/30 11:45

---

Many 3d print items for themselves. But it seems rings, pendants, figurines and neat little functional artworks are super popular. My favorite is printing in clear and flexible materials like tango clear and tango black. Its best to experiment with many different product ideas.

Happy 3d Printing!

=====

Re:Hello

Posted by digital3dart - 2012/03/14 07:53

---

Marco,

The site here is awesome, thank you for such a nice addition to the 3d world. I grew up in art shows as my mother promoted these etc ... I am going to start uploading designs this week. My mother still is and artist though no longer promotes the shows. I wish I would have this a few years back as I would have been set with all the places that I could have promoted you ... but i still have many contacts and I am looking forward to sharing in this great site.

=====

Re:Hello

Posted by Marco CM - 2012/03/14 10:30

---

Thank you for the support and kind words. Our main drive behind Kraftwurx.com is empowering artists/designers/engineers like yourself. I am excited to see what you share with us here in the forums and 3d print store.

Glad to have you on board.

Cheers!

-Marco

=====