

3D Printed Jewelry Startup

Posted by styleshp - 2013/05/09 07:02

Hello everyone!

Please excuse me if you see this as a spam - we didn't intend to do it in any way - just wanted to share our new 3D Printed Jewelry startup website with 3D communities and hope to receive a feedback..

Our startup - <http://styleshapes.com> is a showcase type site what buyers can use for discovery of new jewelry and artists for inspiration for their future creations. It would be very awesome if you could provide us some feedback so we can improve the website to make it even better!

Thanks for your time and sorry is this message makes you feel bad.

Best regards,
Eugene

Perhaps encourage some of your members to upload 3d designs for sales as 3d printed products?

Using an online print business for wholesale full color print services is an useful way to get cheap printing at prices severely less than a local print source. Online printers use a exact production procedure called band running or combo running.
