

here are really 5 ways to use Digital Reality's services. First we offer a marketplace and online community for you to buy and sell truly unique products. We've designed our entire site around giving you the ability to get involved not only in design but also in communicating with others to help us all develop new ways to use our services.

First and foremost, we give you the ability to upload and sell your ideas. Design it in 3D and sell it online. If you don;t know how to design, you can team up with a designer and you will both own the idea and product and split profits for sales on that item. Third, we offer a mail-in service that allows you to send us broken parts and we can recreate them for you. Bets of all, if its valuable, you can have us store the model for sale and let you earn money every time it sells to someone else! We also offer the ability for bureaus to sign up and make our products (distributed manufacturing) and finally, we provide the community with support and education.

By the way, if you're looking for a way to create anything, you can find it here: <https://www.5ways.to/create/anything>